

Become an I²SL Member!

Join I²SL in Making the World's High-Tech Facilities Sustainable

The International Institute for Sustainable Laboratories (I²SL) is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization dedicated to the sustainable design, engineering, and operation of laboratories and other high-technology facilities. As host of the I²SL Annual Conference, formerly the Labs21 Annual Conference, I²SL is the world's premier resource for high-tech facility professionals—from education and resource development to networking and partnering—with the aim of making the world's high-tech facilities sustainable. I²SL also offers in-person workshops and online webinars and develops resources in relevant technical areas such as laboratory benchmarking.

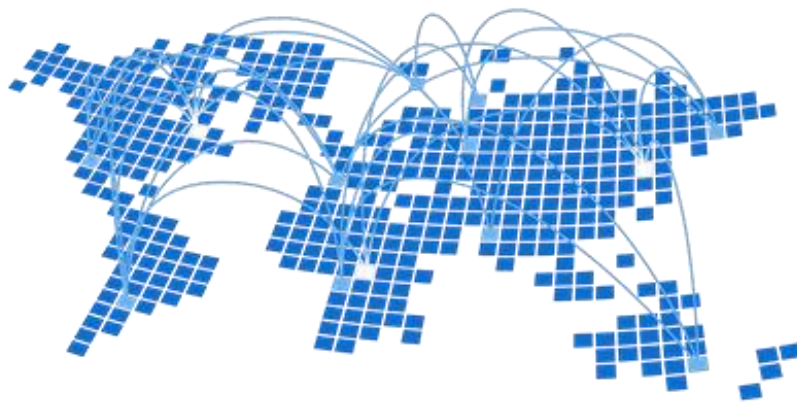

For more than a decade, I²SL has been the source for individuals and organizations looking to learn more about and become engaged with laboratory sustainability. I²SL works to support information sharing and education opportunities among the high-tech facility community. I²SL hopes you will join the organization as a member to help continue this important work.

Join Today

Individual membership dues are $185 per year. Dues for full-time students are $25 per year. Become an I²SL Member today by signing up at:

<https://www.i2sl.org/globalcommunity/becomemember.html>.

I²SL looks to its Members to develop resources, including metering guidelines, high-tech facility operations and maintenance certification, and a laboratory performance rating system, all of which help guide the high-tech facility community toward creating more sustainable facilities. Become an I²SL Member to be on the front lines of these and other initiatives and take advantage of all that an I²SL membership has to offer.

Contact I²SL: www.i2sl.org • info@i2sl.org • 703.841.5484

I²SL is dedicated to advancing sustainable laboratories globally.

I²SL Membership

Member Benefits*

The following benefits are available to all I²SL Members:

- Registration discount at the I²SL Annual Conference.
- Free access to all of I²SL's High-Tech Talks Webinars.
- Invitation to identify, lead, and participate in various I²SL Working Groups and their committees and to develop training, guidance, best practices, case studies and research initiatives.
- Open invitation to submit informative articles to I²SL's E-Library.
- Access to a unique I²SL Member logo.
- Membership identification at the I²SL Annual Conference.
- Recognition as part of I²SL's Global Community, with your name and organization listed on I²SL's website.
- Consideration as one of I²SL's technical experts, to be contacted when I²SL is asked to offer a workshop or provide technical assistance.
- Membership discount on future I²SL publications.

Member Responsibilities

Members will:

- Accurately represent I²SL by following the organization's branding and marketing guidance and employing its mission statement.
- Pay annual membership dues as defined by I²SL (see annual fees listed on opposite page).
- Actively contribute to and promote the I²SL Annual Conferences, working groups and their committees, workshops and webinars, and other I²SL activities.

Become an I²SL Member Today

Start enjoying all the benefits of an I²SL membership. Sign up to become an I²SL Member at <https://i2sl.org/globalcommunity/becomemember.html>. If you have any questions about membership, contact I²SL at info@i2sl.org.

Thank you for your support of I²SL!

* I²SL reserves the right to change Member benefits at any time. If I²SL changes Member benefits, it will notify Members in advance of the benefit change(s). All activities will be undertaken at I²SL's discretion.